In Loving Memory of

Patricia Anne McMahon

(May 5, 1945 - July 30, 2007)

The deep blue sea spoke to me. It was holding back a mystery. A dolphine took me by the hand. It wanted me to understand that in this life, there is more to behold than bags of money and pots of gold. Believe in yourself and you will see...How happy and free you were meant to be.

This memorial website was created to remember our dearest Mother, Patricia Anne Casey McMahon who was born on May 5, 1945 and passed away on July 30, 2007. You will live forever in our memories and hearts.

The background is a textured, light brown or beige color. In the upper right quadrant, there are two roses. The one on the left is smaller and more tightly curled, while the one on the right is larger and more fully bloomed. The word "Gallery" is written in a white, elegant cursive font, centered horizontally and partially overlapping the roses.

I remember the time that I was driving Pat to have a meal and she was giving me directions she told me to take a left which I did but she forgot to tell me it was a dual carriage way we were heading for oncoming traffic good job the lights were red the scream that she gave out I can still hear but we came to no harm.

Love you and miss you lots Pat

Lorraine

I will never forget the first time Mum saw Maisie and how she looked when she saw me with my daughter.

Michael

I remember taking Mom's Jeep out with a friend and put that truck through hell and back. She was not amused. Especially when the police arrived at the house and returned her license plate that they had found. When she tried to wake me the that morning, I refused to get out of bed. My Mom decided to fetch a cold bucket of water and proceeded to dump this on me and the bed. Least to say, I shot right up.

Luv Yeah Mom
